

Pre-Surgical Instructions

Q. Can I feed my pet?

A. Please do not feed your pet the morning of surgery. It is alright to feed your pet the night before, no later than midnight.

Q. Can I give my pet water?

A. It is alright to give your pet water up until the morning of surgery.

Q. What is the check-in process?

A. You will be placed in an exam room where a technician will assess the patient, explain the surgical procedure and answer any questions you may have. [please allow 20-30 minutes for check-in]

Q. Will someone call me?

A. Yes, every pet receives an exam by the doctor prior to surgery. If the doctor has any concerns you will receive a phone call prior to surgery. Otherwise, a technician will call you after the pet has recovered from surgery to inform you how the procedure went and what time you can pick up.

Post-Surgical Instructions

Q. When can I pick up my pet?

A. Once you receive a phone call from the technician or doctor after the surgery is complete, you will be informed as to what time your pet can be picked up. Typically discharges are performed between 5:00pm and 8:00pm

Q. Can I feed my pet after surgery?

A. Yes, it is alright to allow your pet a small amount of food late in the evening after allowing a small amount of water, typically a 1/4 to 1/2 of its normal amount.

Q. Do I need to schedule a re-check?

A. Yes, a recheck is typically scheduled about 10-14 days from the date of surgery.
